

Supplemental Figure S6. Variability of the expression of flavonoid biosynthesis genes in 52 Arabidopsis accessions under the indicated experimental conditions. Data represent the average of relative peak area of three biological replicates consisting of two individual plants per accession. Box plots represent the upper and lower quartile with black horizontal bars indicating the median. Whiskers indicate the highest and lowest data point within a 1.5-fold interquartile range, solid circles represent potential outliers.